NEWS + NOTES

The cooler evenings are a sure sign that fall is around the corner! It also means it is time for the Corridor Bash, specifically the 9th Annual Corridor Bash - a casual gathering of friends celebrating Charleston?s thriving knowledge economy. Join us at this limited-attendance annual event made possible by our member companies and resource partners NBSC, Comcast Business Class, CSS and Google.

Flagship + FS2

Here is some Flagship & FS2 trivia. Since June 2009 when the spaces opened, 50 companies have graduated and are creating great economic value in our community; 27 are currently in residence; the companies have raised over $43 million and hired nearly 200 employees. Thanks to the success of these companies, we have three spots available for young, knowledge-based companies. Interested in a tour of the Flagships? Contact me.

Charleston Free Wi-Fi

The Charleston Free Wi-Service that began in downtown?s Marion Square Park with a Google grant has been expanded to Governor?s Park on Daniel Island thanks to Digital Corridor Member, Home Telecom.

CODEcamp

Fifty students have completed the initial CODEcamp classes that began in May. Since CODEcamp-beta, we have made several improvements to our education initiative while offering additional courses to help coders enhance their skills and marketability. Sign up now. Fall classes begin October 15th. You can also follow us on Twitter @chscodes.

Then there was Super Happy Dev Day, a one day CODEcamp offering that was held at the Flagship. Don?t fret if you were unable to attend this sold-out event? there will be more. Until then, you can view the videos and photos from the September 7th event.
